

A reminder: keeping up volume and stamina in independent reading is the best way to increase our ability to remember and use vocabulary.

You have made a great deal of comparisons between Dahl's and Poe's pieces. It is important to transfer the interpretations with the work we have been doing across our two short stories to the longer literature you are reading independently...

Bend 2 week's closure: Reading Analytically Across Genres

Today I want to teach you that readers think about how themes play out in longer novels - they try out the same kinds of comparison thinking as they're reading novels that span hundreds of pages, and stop to track their comparisons just as we have worked to do this week.

Remainder of class:

1. turn in your HIGHLIGHTED long write
2. Evaluate your reading log
3. Independent reading and new log

Next week we will head into ARCHETYPES AND ALLUSIONS!
